

Dear geoFAX User,

As promised, you will find a free upgrade to geoFAX V2.0 in this package. Study the new documentation on side 2 of the disk. Even though portions of it look the same as the old manual, there are changes in it that reflect the new features of V2.0.

Since you are upgrading to a new version here, there is really only one major thing to be made aware of. I have changed the format of a geoFAX document. A multi-page fax is now stored in one file when received as opposed to the previous method of storing each page in separate files. For this reason, the faxes that you have received with your previous version of geoFAX will not work with V2.0. If you have saved any faxes up to this point, you will need to keep your current version of geoFAX handy to use with them. And likewise, the new format is not compatible with the older versions of geoFAX.

If there is enough call for it, I will create a conversion program that will convert the older format to the newer one. If I do this, I will make the program available for free downloading from my BBS. If you have a need for this, just leave me email on my BBS, The Speed Zone at (517) 322-2386.

Once again, thanks for the support and please enjoy this new version with my compliments.
